An excellent programme that contained a number of pleasing features was successfully carried out under direction of the Sisters and Rev. J. J. McGuane, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's church.

All of the essays won hearty commendation and wore exceptionally well delivered, showing careful preparation. The individual and chorus singing was accorded merited applause. A feature that met great favor was the poppy song and drill by twelve young girls. Each girl carried an immense poppy and as the various movements were executed and the catchy measures of the song were sung the little girls presented a pretty sight. At the conclu-

CRASHED THROUGH BARS. C. H. Pellett's Only Chance to Escape Auto Collision.

Since last Friday evening a quiet search has been going on in an endeavor to locate the parties in a big runabout automobile that came within an ace of causing a'serious accident. The incident occurred at the north end of Industrial piace.

C. H. Pellett, in a little red runabout, was coming south along the Danielson-Elmville highway. It was late and he was traveling at a good rate of speed. He knows the road well and was hugging the right side of the road while rounding the curve near Judd avenue. This fact and his familiarity with the location undoubtedly saved his life, for, as he came around the turn, the headlights of a big machine, running at excessive speed, flashed in his face and a head-on collision seemed inevitable. The strange machine was on the wrong side of the road. Mr. Pellett remembered a bar way in the fence on his side of the street and without heeltating a fraction of a second huried his car at it as the only possible chance of escaping. His machine plunged into the barrier, ripped through the boards and finally brought up with a crash against a big boulder that snapped off the forward axle. The hilarious joy riders never slackened speed and are reported to have jeered at the disaster their recklessness had caused.

Mr. Pellett escaped without serious injury. A measurement of the bar-Since last Friday evening a quiet Mr. Pellett escaped without serious injury. A measurement of the bar-way that he crashed through showed that he had only four inches to spare on each side over the width of his machine. The strange machine contained four men, but Mr. Pellett was unable to get their number. They were probably doing forty miles an hour.

UMPIRE QUESTION To Be Settled at Meeting of League

Directors on Sunday.

Precident A. L. Reeves has called a meeting of the directors of the Eastern Connecticut league for next Sunday afternoon in Banicison. Pres-ident Reeves is going to get the man-agers together to thresh out the um-pire question which has reached an acute stage. Every member of his umpiring staff has been objected to by some one of the teams and there by some one of the teams and there is on the league circuit one town or another that has a kick coming against at least one of the umpires.

Dayville will not stand for White, Norwich-Taftville is sore on Calsse, and as for Power to the company of the company o and as for Roy, his presence as an of-ficial arbiter of the games is objected to in more than one town. to in more than one town.

Under the league rules, the president has had full charge of the appointment and control of the umpires.

Mr. Reeves feels, however, that the task is becoming too burdensome to be agreeable and he wants the managers to get together and straighte, out their difficulties over the umpires. He says he is getting the best men precurable for the present price paid (13 a game and traveling expenses), and with manager after manager kicking he does not feel as if he should be subjected to such a degree of work in straightening out the difficulties the kicking entails. The meeting is to get the word of the managers that he is to continue to have full control or shift the responsibility to someone else.

$50 Horses Abound in Putnam. In reviewing the tax list as published in the new municipal register, there is noted a remarkable uniformity in the valuation of horses in Putnam. On the street the horses look to be worth sometimes more and sometimes less than the very modest valuation of an even $50 that is fixed on them in the list. According to the list, Putnam has a surprising number of $50 horses.
